

ACADEMIC COACH BIOS

JESSICA

Hi there! I'm Jessica Izzo, a passionate third-year graduate student in the Doctorate of Audiology (Au.D.) program. I earned my B.S. in Speech Pathology and Audiology from Clarion University in Spring 2023, and now I'm on a mission to help others navigate the world of sound and communication!

This is my third semester as an Academic Coach, and I'm thrilled to be a go-to resource for students who need support in overcoming challenges—whether it's tackling coursework, finding motivation, or just figuring out how to survive school (I get it!). I know that school can be overwhelming at times, so my goal is to be a resource, mentor, and cheerleader for anyone facing academic challenges. Whether it's time management, study strategies, motivation, or just needing someone to talk things through with, I'm here to help! I am excited to connect and help you turn obstacles into opportunities!

EESHNA

Hi all! My name is Eeshna Nath two years of work experience, I discovered my enjoyment of working with clients to assist them with their hearing needs. I am a first-year AUD graduate student. I earned my degree in Psychology with a B.A from the have been working in the HR field since then at the University of Minnesota. I graduated in 2022 and have been working in the HR field since then worked in the HR field. After 2 years of work experience, I discovered my enjoyment of working with clients to assist them with their hearing!

This is my second semester as a GA, and I am excited to be a resource for you to help you tackle your stress this semester. I understand and want to help you with any challenges that you may have! I am excited to connect with the students this semester.

DEVON

My name is Devon Baker, and I'm currently in the generalist year of the MSW program. I graduated from Lock Haven University with a bachelor's degree in psychology spring 2016. My end goal is to become an LCSW (Licensed Clinical Social Worker).

I chose this role because I struggled early in my undergraduate career to find the right strategies for academic success. I don't want others to figure it out the hard way. Whether you need help with time management, study strategies, organization, motivation, or simply talking through a plan, I'm here to help. I'm looking forward to connecting with you and helping you turn challenges into progress this semester!
